What to Expect for WBS Sharing Class

Sharing Class at WBS is set apart to look back and recount the nuggets of truth you've held dear and hopefully lived off of throughout the year. It's a time to share these nuggets with other WBS women in a condensed, succinct way. In order to aid you in that goal, we've created six questions in this last Lesson. Mingled with your time of enjoying a potluck at your table, you'll also be able to top off the year with conversation around these questions. At the very end of class, we'll unite by asking for sharing from any of the tables. In order for as many women to participate as possible, we'll try to stick to a few basic parameters:

- a) all sharing should be tied to what was learned this year from "PAUL TO A T"
- b) it's preferred that only those who have done this Lesson actually share
- c) the goal is to keep everyone's sharing to under 3 minutes per person
- d) take great care to not divulge private details about someone else when sharing
- e) anything that is said is to fall under the "G" rating

Lesson 26 • Sharing Class • May 16, 2012

1. We're at the end of our "PAUL TO A T" study where we've steeped in the letters Paul wrote to the Thessalonians, Timothy and Titus. Yet as we've read those letters, we simultaneously got a close-up snapshot of the apostle Paul himself, one of the key leaders of the 1st Century church. To a degree one could say we got to know Paul to a T. From each of the 5 books that we studied, highlight a trait in Paul that you admire (and perhaps desire to be developed in you):

1 Thessalonians

2 Thessalonians

1 Timothy

Titus

2 Timothy

2. The word "faith" was mentioned 44 times in the 5 "T" books that we studied this year. What fresh insight did you gain about "faith"?
