James 1:19-27

1. In verse 20, what is the purpose of being quick to listen, slow to speak, and slow to become angry?
2. Based on the context of verses 19-21, how would you describe the term, “the righteousness that God desires?”
3. Describe a recent situation in which you had a decision to choose anger or righteousness. What did you learn as a result of your choice?
4. In verses 22-25, what is the act that distinguishes deception from blessing?
5. What habits have you established to put into practice what you learn from the Bible?
6. In verse 26, what type of action makes personal religion “worthless?”
7. In verse 27, what is the type of religion that God considers “pure and faultless?” What is your response to that statement?
